Rep. Dan Flynn Appointed to the Policy Committee of the House Republican Caucus

(AUSTIN) – Today, Rep. Dan Flynn was elected along with 15 other Republican members to the House Republican Caucus Policy Committee for the 2009-2010 term.

"This group of legislators from across the state will work to ensure that quality policy recommendations are made that represent the core Republican principles from every corner of our great state," House Republican Caucus Chair Rep. Taylor said. "Together we will work to pass legislation that will reflect these values and continue the success our State has achieved over the years."

Flynn stated: "I look forward to working hands-on to advance successful ideals based on limited government, individual accountability, and personal liberties. Being a part of the Policy Caucus is an excellent opportunity to make sure the Legislature keeps Texas a place where people want to live and work."

The Policy Committee, chaired by Rep. Kelly Hancock, will determine legislative recommendations and report findings to the entire House Republican Caucus. Two members were elected from each of six geographic regions of the state (North, South, East, West, and Panhandle), three at-large members and the Caucus Policy Chair were appointed by the Caucus Chair.
